We are happy to invite you to participate in 2 workshops on Male Infertility and Sexual Dysfunction being organized at the Muljibhai Patel Urological Hospital, Nadiad, Gujarat, India, between March 30 and April 2, 2016.

Tentative Scientific Program

Workshop-1: CASE DISCUSSIONS IN MALE INFERTILITY

March 30-31

Course description: This two-day workshop will cover all aspects of evaluation and treatment of male infertility through an innovative and practical approach that will introduce each topic through a series of case discussions and then summarize the final take-home message through a review of key papers/studies and a summarizing lecture. This will enable participants to easily integrate the contents of the workshop into their daily practice. Operative procedures will also be discussed in detail using unedited/ minimally edited videos from previous live workshops. Through the use of recorded procedures we hope to facilitate a more direct interaction with the operating surgeon.

Topics will include semen analysis, DNA fragmentation tests, evaluation protocols, obstructive and non-obstructive azoospermia, OATS, varicocele, ejaculatory dysfunctions, sperm retrieval techniques, microsurgical VEA and VVA, ART and sperm cryopreservation.

Intended audience: practicing urologists and trainee urologists. It would also be relevant to gynecologists with a major infertility practice who are interested in latest advances in male infertility treatment.

Workshop-2: SURGICAL PROCEDURES FOR MALE SEXUAL DYSFUNCTION

April 1-2

Course description: This two-day workshop will feature detailed discussions and operative videos on penile prosthesis implantation, correction of congenital penile curvature and deformity due to Peyronie's disease, and surgery for priapism. Case selection, pre-op evaluation, technical tips, and management of complications will be discussed at length. Related topics like premature ejaculation, office evaluation of ED, post-prostatectomy penile rehabilitation and andropause will also be covered.

Intended audience: urologists interested in advanced management of male sexual problems.
